Module Title

Tourism Hospitality Environment and Industry

Reference	BS1328	Version	3
Created	April 2018	SCQF Level	SCQF 7
Approved	June 2018	SCQF Points	30
Amended	June 2018	ECTS Points	15

Aims of Module

To provide the student with an understanding of the travel, tourism, leisure and hospitality industries and their importance to national and international economies.

Learning Outcomes for Module

On completion of this module, students are expected to be able to:

- 1 Understand and apply theoretical concepts and models relevant to the leisure and tourism academic disciplines
- 2 Appraise the public and private sector structure in place to deliver national tourism. This will include key stakeholders: National Tourism Organisations (NTOs), Destination Management Organisations (DMOs), trade associations, local government, and national governments.
- 3 Appreciate the: social, economic, political, and environmental costs and benefits of tourism in the widest sense (individual, business, nationally and as a society)
- 4 Appraise the tourism provision of a range of specific countries.
- 5 Appraise national and global tourism and travel provision and its links with the wider tourism industry
- 6 Understand how cultural variables affect management decisions within the tourism and hospitality industries

Indicative Module Content

The development of the travel, tourism, leisure and hospitality industries will be studied in relation to both the micro and macro environments in which they operate; the political and economic importance of the industries in regional, national and international contexts are balanced against the social and environmental consequences of developing tourism related industries; the managerial and operational strategies currently associated with the four industries are highlighted. The industries are analysed in the context of the wider global environment. Who the tourist is, key tourist destinations and the tourism product offered. A geographical focus on domestic and international tourism destinations. Cultural variables in management decisions. Tourism and travel product provision.

Module Delivery

Key concepts are introduced and illustrated through the use of lectures, tutorial sessions, field trips, case studies, student centred learning exercises, industrial visits and guest lectures.
