Aims of Module

The aim of this module is to provide students with an opportunity to engage with, and apply, the basic concepts and principles driving content marketing within contemporary organisations.

Learning Outcomes for Module

On completion of this module, students are expected to be able to:

- 1 Demonstrate an understanding of the principles that guide effective content marketing.
- Demonstrate an ability to understand and apply the use of contemporary tools and practices for developing an effective content marketing strategy for target audiences.
- 3 Produce relevant content for specific designated marketing purposes for identified digital platform(s).
- Demonstrate an understanding of how organisations can measure the effectivness of their content marketing activity.
- Demonstrate self-reflection and evaluation of outputs, identifying strategies for future improvement of practice.

Indicative Module Content

This module covers the skills and knowledge required to produce effective content for marketing purposes, using appropriate techniques and tools. Students will assess current examples and gain an understanding of the different types of content that can be developed, and how to generate relevant content ideas. Students will also assess how content is distributed and consumed sustainably in line with the 17 UN Sustainable Development Goals. Aligning with outcome 5, UNESCO's Education for Sustainable Development Critical thinking competency encourages students to question norms, practices, and opinions; to reflect on own one?s values, perceptions, and actions; and to take a position in the sustainability discourse. They will explore the influence that content can have on organisations and stakeholders. Students will then identify customer personas and develop an appropriate content marketing strategy to apply in a given context. They will consider how to effectively promote content, whilst also considering how to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of a campaign.
